MARATHON COMPANIES BRING BACK A FAMILIAR FACE

Tony Venturoli, a seasoned veteran in sales and former employee of The Marathon Companies, has rejoined the team to take on the role of Special Projects Coordinator. After discussions with owner Tod Cislo, it became clear that Tony's enduring passion for project coordination and his enthusiasm for the work make him an excellent fit for this new chapter at Marathon.

We are committed to nurturing our young sales team and equipping them with the skills needed for success, and Tony's expertise in building strong customer relationships and guiding their decision-making is an invaluable asset. His ability to demonstrate the importance of our customers and the confidence they can have in our products is a rare and impactful skill, and a key reason why he has earned their loyalty.

In this role, Tony will also collaborate with our independent representatives to develop more effective and cohesive Territorial Development Plans, fostering a stronger, more successful approach. It is an honor to welcome Tony back to Marathon, and we are excited about the many great contributions he will bring. His energy, positivity, and enthusiasm are sure to inspire both our team and our customers. As Tony himself says, "Bring it!"—and at 72 years young, he truly embodies this spirit.
